to-morrow's encounter promises one of the liveliest glove sessions in this section of the country for some time. The betting indicates how closely the public holds the lads. To-night the odds were 10 to 8, with Ritchie on the honor end, and there was no indication that the figures would change.

It will be the first time that Willie Ritchie has defended his title since he won it from Ad Wolgast, and many fans who hold to the theory that "uncasy rests the head that wears a crown," believe that this will be a handleap to the champlon. Ritchie is a very proud young man, and he probably realizes that to lose his title to-morrow would be a dire calamity and for this reason he will fight to the last for this reason he will fight to the last ounce of his energy from the time the bell taps sending them away until the bout is concluded.

The handlers of the champion are confident that their boy will retain the title, and Ritchie seems the most confident man in the camp.

Willie says that he never felt halt so good for any contest before, and he declares that the only anxiety he harbors is an impulse to hear the starting gong, so that he can start the process of clearing Rivers out of his way. Rischie figures that his natural advantage of height and reach will be of great aid to him in this bout, and though some persons figure Rivers more rugged than Will, the champion does not share such views.

Ritchie is one of the most untried champions that ever defended a title. He has had very few important matches, and while he showed considerable form in all of them, he has never yet displayed any marvellous brilliancy.

Judged on both his gymnasium work and his past record, Rivers is a grand little fighter. He is a short coupled lad, well set up, and he gives out the will put his title in jeopardy lenger Joe Rivers, of Loa Angeles. It will be the first time in the history of California where two native sons have met for the title, and to add to the attractiveness of the match, a native son, Eddie Graney, the "little horse-shoer," will act as referee.

It will be a contest between a boy from Southern California and another boy from Northern California, with a California referee.

This is one contest that has expert sporting followers guessing. No lightwelf in the south is destined to deprive Wille Ritchie of his title fellow from the south is destined to deprive Wille Ritchie of his title. Friends of Ritchie are just as sure that Willie's title is as safe in a bout with Rivers as though he had it locked in a burgklar proof safe and no one else but himself inew the combination.

So far as the contest is concerned, to-morrow's encounter promises are most magnifeent. His sheulders are most magnifeent. His has plenty of speed, and he seems to be a very decisive puncher. BRAVES SLAUGHTER SUPERBAS

Brooklyn, July 3.—Slamming Stack and Wagner for twenty base hits today, the Bostons smothered the Brooklyns by a score of 17 to 4. Stack started the game for the locals, but he was yanked early in the second inning, after he had walked two men and given a base hit, filling the bases. Wagner went in, but he could not stop the bombardment, and four runs came over before the inning was over. It looked as though Brooklyn would overcome the lead when they brought in four men on hard hitting, but the Braves kept right at it, and in the eighth, with a fusillade of hits, one of them a homer, scored four runs, and

this they followed with four more in the final session. The score: the final session. The score: Brooklyn. Boston. PIRATES WIN GAME

Pittsburgh, July 8 .- The Pirates fell upon Harmon in the first inning to-day and tallied sufficient runs to win the splendid form. While touched up for ten hits, they were widely scattered. The Cardinals filled the bases with one down in the seventh. Konetchy, time Demarce had been hit rather hard, Evans and O'Leary batting safely in succession, but were unable to score. Wingo batted into a double play. Pirate Miller was switched from first to short, and his place was taken by Hyatt, who slammed out two triples.

CUBS TRIM REDS

Chicago, July 3.—The Cubs trimmed the Reds, 5 to 1, to-day. Opportune hitting of Suggs made the game an easy affair. Lavender held the Reds helpless at all stages, and received brilliant support. PITCHING DUEL IS

Fifteen Innings to 1-to-0

WITH BIG

Hit Hard, but Red Sox Drives Are Mostly at Senators' Fielders.

Boston, July 3 .- Walter Johnson and Ray Collins engaged in a great pitchers' battle this afternoon, the "Terrible inning by a score of 1 to 0. He had Sox hitting him hard throughout the game, but their drives were frequently right at the opposing fielders. The Reds were only able to get nine hits in the fifteen innings, and it was only two safeties in one inning. With one down, Gandil doubled to left and Morgan filed to Speaker. Then Shanks pasted the ball to the scoreboard for two bases, scoring Gandll with the winning run. Both teams played a sharp fielding game, and there was plenty of excitement. By winning today the Senators cleaned up the series, taking all four games. The score:
